

AI Committee – Appointment of new members

The City of London Law Society (“CLLS”) is setting up a new AI Committee to develop its work in the Artificial Intelligence sphere, and its representation of the legal profession in the City of London in this developing area of practice. The CLLS would therefore welcome applications from prospective members for this new committee.

The committee will have a broad focus, examining issues arising both from how AI is affecting the legal profession and also how it is affecting our clients’ work.

Applicants should be members (including affiliates) of the CLLS either individually or as part of a CLLS Corporate Member firm. While applicants should be experienced in this area, we are also looking to attract innovation and enthusiasm for the roles. As such, applicants need not just be at partnership level. We especially encourage solicitor associates (at any level) and particularly non-lawyer tech experts in law firms to apply as well.

You should be committed about the opportunity to contribute to the work of the Committee, and be able to dedicate enough time to participate in its work, including regular meetings in the City of London.

To apply, please send a CV and give an indication of your main areas of interest in the work of the Committee to Minesh Tanna by e-mail at Minesh.Tanna@simmons-simmons.com. Please put “City of London Law Society AI Committee” in the subject-line.

The deadline is close of business on Friday 6th October 2023.

If you need any further information about the committee, please contact Minesh, or Kevin Hart at kevin.hart@citysolicitors.org.uk.

The CLLS is committed to the principles of equality, diversity and inclusion, and welcomes applications from all members of the profession irrespective of age, disability, gender, race, religion or sexual orientation.
